LAUNCHES FIVE DECADE RETROSPECTIVE IN PORT COQUITLAM, JANUARY 15.

Port Coquitlam, B.C. (January 5, 2015) - Canadian contemporary painter Winston Seaton is presenting a 5 decade retrospective of his art from January 15 - February 16 at Leigh Square Community Arts Village in Port Coquitlam City Centre.

Seaton, who has headlined numerous solo shows across Canada and whose work is featured in many significant private collections in both Canada and Europe is excited by the opportunity to present his finest works from the past complimented by a bold new direction in his art.

He has created a new series of tribute paintings, including a connection to Tom Thomson and associate painters, in the Group of Seven as well as his landscapes and abstract paintings for which he has created a large demand in the art market.

This show represents a culmination of a lifetime of painting. "I am extremely grateful because this is a unique opportunity to both look back but also look ahead to what is both the next and hopefully the best chapter of my career," stated Seaton.

There will be an opening reception Saturday, January 17, which will feature a talk by the artist from 3-5:00 pm at the gallery in Leigh Square Community Arts Village and the public is invited.
